The RELY-Ability Training Program

The RELY-Ability Training Program is designed to train the employee to be reliable and dependable. It explains how and why being a reliable and dependable employee benefits the individual. The RELY-Ability Training Program includes a pledge that the employee signs which is an acknowledgement of receipt of notification of standards for appropriate workplace behavior.

The Training Program is a self-paced and self-administered document that uses programmed instruction and behavioral contracting technology that enhances the power of the learning experience and, at the same time, eliminates the need for a trainer. The RELY-Ability Training Program can be administered to individuals or groups, which means that administration time is minimal.

A detailed Administrator's Manual is included with your initial order. The Administrator's Manual provides step-by-step instruction for setting up a RELY-Ability Training Program, including scripts that can be used to introduce the program to participants.

The RELY-Ability Training Program is not timed and can usually be completed in less than 30 minutes.

The RELY-Ability Training Program is included at no extra charge with the BANK RELY TEST. Individual RELY-Ability Training documents can be printed on demand from the BANK RELY TEST scoring software.
